Background

Small and Medium Enterprise Development Bank of Thailand (SME Bank) has its organizational changes divided into 3 phases as follows:

1. Small Industry Finance Office (SIFO) (1964-1991)

In 1963, the Council of Ministers passed its resolution to approve the loan project for promoting small industries which was included in the National Economic Development Plan No.1. The project was then developed to the establishment of the Loan Processing Office for Small Industries in March 1964 under the supervision of the Department of Industrial Promotion, Ministry of Industry, to provide financial supports to small industrial businesses, which was then renamed as Small Industry Finance Office (SIFO). However, as a government agency, SIFO had certain limitations on sources of capital in its operation, which were depending solely on the state budget allocations while the credit management must be in compliance with the same regulations as those of general government agencies which resulted in the lack of flexibility in its operation.

2. Small Industry Finance Corporation (SIFC) (1991-2002)

Due to its status as a government agency, SIFO had some limitations on fund raising and provision of financial services. Therefore, the Ministry of Industry and the Ministry of Finance agreed to upgrade SIFO to “Small Industry Finance Corporation (SIFC)” as a juristic person under the Civil and Commercial Code, with its initial registered capital of 300 million baht; and in 2000, the Ministry of Finance increased the capital of SIFC for another 2,500 million baht.

- In 1991, SIFO was upgraded to SIFC, with the registered capital of 300 million baht.

- In 2000, the Ministry of Finance injected the capital of SIFC for another 2,500 million baht; as a result, the share capital of SIFC was increased to 2,800 million baht.

Unfortunately, the financial crisis in 1997 had severe impacts on business sectors, particularly on small and medium enterprises that encountered with the problem of lack of financial liquidity and partly became NPLs. The Ministry of Industry proposed and discussed with the Ministry of Finance about an idea of upgrading SIFC to be the main financial institution for SMEs development.

3. Small and Medium Enterprise Development Bank of Thailand (SME Bank) (2002- Present)

In 2001, the Government agreed to expand SIFC’s roles and scope of operation by promoting it to the “Small and Medium Enterprise Development Bank of Thailand (SME Bank)” whereas, the Ministry of Industry and the Ministry of Finance jointly drafted the Act of Small and Medium Enterprise Development Bank of Thailand B.E. 2545 which was effective on 20th December 2002, the date regarded as the date of establishment of SME Bank. The Ministry of Finance increased its capital from time to time for another 9,955 million baht during 2004-2014. As a result, at present, SME Bank has its total share capital of 12,755 million baht.

- In 2004, the Ministry of Finance increased the capital of SME Bank for another 2,000 million baht resulting in the total share capital of 4,800 million baht.
- In 2005, the Ministry of Finance increased the capital of SME Bank for another 2,500 million baht resulting in the total share capital of 7,300 million baht.
- In 2007, the Ministry of Finance increased the capital of SME Bank for another 1,200 million baht resulting in the total share capital of 8,500 million baht.
- In 2008, the Ministry of Finance increased the capital of SME Bank for another 600 million baht resulting in the total share capital of 9,100 million baht.
- In 2009, the Ministry of Finance increased the capital of SME Bank for another 2,500 million baht resulting in the total share capital of 11,600 million baht.
- In 2012, the Ministry of Finance increased the capital of SME Bank for another 600 million baht resulting in the total share capital of 12,200 million baht.
- In 2013, the Ministry of Finance increased the capital of SME Bank for another 555 million baht resulting in the total share capital of 12,755 million baht.

Report by Board of Directors

In 2014, the Bank encountered difficult situation to perform business because of accumulated problems on the matter of high rate of NPL and the Bank's management as well as missions incompatibility. Therefore, the present Board of Directors has been appointed by National Council for Peace and Order (NCPO) since August, 2014 with the missions to solve problems of NPL and increase the Bank's revenue so that the Bank will recover and able to operate its business for truly SMEs development and be an effective government mechanism to gear forward SMEs which is the core policy of the government. Certain guidelines are implemented as shown below:

- (1) NPLs Management: Classifying NPLs accounts and determining suitable resolve as well as appointing loan monitoring unit to maintain the quality of debtors and prevent NPL under low economic slowdown.
- (2) Credit Expansion: Improving credit procedure by separating marketing unit and credit analysis unit for check and balance improving.
- (3) Human Resource Management: Transferring officers from back office to front office in order to support the increasing of regional credit expansion without recruitment.
- (4) Internal Audit Improvement: Hiring professional advisor to improve the audit system and provide education to the Bank's officers.

According to the above guidelines, the Bank's status has been better and recovered to gain net profit of 176.53 million baht at the end of the year 2014 though the Bank loss 40.79 million baht in the first half year. It has shown that the Bank has the ability to become an effective government mechanism gearing forward SMEs comply with government policy.

For business direction of the year 2015, we truly believe that the operation system and guidelines, of which the Board of Directors was set up in the second half year of 2014, will be efficiently carried out in full capability. The Bank will be able to solve its problems and become a stable financial institute that not only supports SMEs with the access in source of fund but consistency with development and SMEs competency in regional area.

Finally, on behalf of the Board of Directors and all the executives and officers of SME Bank, we would like to thank National Council for Peace and Order (NCPO), the Government, State Enterprise Policy Office, Ministry of Finance and Ministry of Industry for their kindly support. Also, we would like to extend our gratitude to our customers, business partners and alliances for the previous continuous cooperation support and future operation.

Key Factors Affecting Bank's Performance

1. Thai and Global Economic Condition

Thai economy has been significantly affected by political unrest and slow pace recovery of global economy while disbursement of public expenditure has not met the target resulting in limitation of injection of money into the system. Such has brought about decreasing consumer confidence leading to less buying power and slowing down investment in order to wait and see political and economic direction. As a result, the Thai economy has been facing deflation for the whole previous year.

Global economy has struggled to meet its expected growth rate as recovery has been clearly found only in certain part of the world such as USA while in many parts including China, Russia, Eurozone and Japan, staggering condition is still found as well as tension in several geographical areas, oil price, having decreased since the second half of 2014, has caused many countries to face remarkably low or even negative inflation rate. They have to continually adopt expansionary monetary policy together with economic stimulating measures.

Certainly, due to such depression of domestic and global economy, it unavoidably has effects on SMEs and consequently on credit quality of financial institutions.

2. Competition

The overall credit granted by commercial banks expanded in decreasing rate either for business sector or consumer sector in response to economic condition while household debt was still at high level. Although commercial banks have increasingly played significant role in granting more credit to SMEs but more recently, such SME credit has been decreased considerably as they adopt more restrictive measures in granting credit to business sector, especially those in hospitality industry, construction, real estate and textile industry.

Specialized Financial Institutions : SFIs has played an important role in providing more credit to private sector proved by its constant expansion in credit amount. The operation has been carried out to pursue the Bank's mission and to respond to the government's policy under which package of measures have been implemented in order to alleviate impacts from economic downturn and to facilitate the access to capital source for SMEs. However, the customer groups of SFIs have sustained more impacts than those large business groups as they have lesser degree of financial strength and adaptability and thus resulting in poorer credit quality of SFIs.

3. Technology

Commercial banks continue to develop their technology and innovations in order to be on the leading position of digital banking and financial transactions underlining swiftness and convenience that can meet competition among targeted customers of the bank, especially the new generation who admires convenience, modernism and innovation. Such technology will support transnational investment and transaction as a result of free trade area in ASEAN. The above are the main reasons attracting client to seek for products and services from commercial banks.

Digital information technology has made communication and data transmission faster. SME Bank has exploited such advantages for its operation including expansion of contacting channels for its clients, provision of effective operation and services that meet client's satisfaction and cost control.

4. Government's Policy

In order to boost economy, the government's policy has always given priority to allowing SMEs to get more access to capital sources, promoting SMEs to obtain more competitiveness and be prepared for AEC.

2. Risk Factors and Risk Management

To implement risk management, SME Bank refers to the guideline provided by the Bank of Thailand and the Ministry of Finance with respect to categorization of risks into 2 main categories with 6 types of risk including financial risks e.g. credit risk, market risk and liquidity risk; non financial risk e.g. strategic risk, operational risk and compliance risk. For the year 2014, SME Bank has identified risk factors at organizational level based on categories mentioned above. SME Bank has also prepared Risk Map, as a tool for systematically integrating all risks together (Enterprise Risk Management: ERM).

Strategic Risk

Strategic Risk means the risk resulted from determination of strategic plans, operation plans and their implementation which are not proper or consistent with external factors and external environment which affect incomes, funds or existence of the business.

SME Bank has implemented its strategic risk management, which can be summarized as follows:

1. Strategic risk management policy has been determined and reviewed as a strategic risk management framework of the Bank.

2. SME Bank's strategies and goals have been set using data obtained from SWOT analysis of internal and external environment such as the operating results and current situations of the Bank, economic condition, business situation of SMEs, the government's policies and the Bank's customers' satisfaction etc., as well as, the process of monitoring of the operating results in comparison with its goals and directing the operation to meet those goals.

3. The risk management guidelines provided by COSO has been applied to the process for developing the Bank's risk management plan which is also in line with the quality assessment system for state enterprise by linking the process of risk management, risk factors and risk management with the Bank's goals and strategic plans. SME Bank has analyzed and assessed either internal and external risks that may affect the goal of the Bank's business plan, defined risk appetite and risk tolerance and also developed risk map and risk handling plan to minimize such risks at acceptable level and to facilitate achievement of the Bank's goals. Moreover, SME Bank shall follow up and report the results of risk management to the related committees for consideration on quarterly basis and shall review the interim risk management plan to ensure proper risk management.

4. SME Bank shall follow up and report the status of strategic risks to the related committees on a regular basis and shall also report the same to Risk Management Committee on monthly basis and to board of directors of SME Bank on quarterly basis so that the operational guidelines can be revised to attain the prescribed goals.

Credit Risk

Credit Risk refers to the risk from debtors' insolvency or potential insolvency resulted in credit rating downgrade, which may affect the status of funds and incomes of SME Bank.

To manage credit risk, SME Bank always adheres to widely recognized standards and the guideline given by the Bank of Thailand as follows:

1. Identify risks.
2. Evaluate risks.
3. Prepare risk management plan.
4. Manage risks.
5. Report/review risk management tool.

SME Bank has appointed various committees to control credit risk by acting as a person considering and permitting credit granting to ensure that operations by each unit are limited to controllable and acceptable risks e.g. credit review committee, supervisory and monitoring committee for NPL, credit granting committee, debt restructuring committee, risk management committee, executive board or SME Bank's board of directors, etc.

Credit risk management plan and its results have to be approved and submitted to the Risk Management Committee or if the matter is beyond the power of Risk Management Committee, it must be presented to SME Bank's board of directors for approval.

In order to allow SME Bank to have clear standard and definite approach, SME Bank has therefore determined the approach for credit risk management as a framework for operation such as credit policy, credit risk management policy, credit risk management manual and risk limits by individual industry, etc. all of which shall be reviewed at least once a year according to the practical guideline given by the Bank of Thailand.

In addition, SME Bank has also carried out operations concerning certain major credit risk management as follows:

1. Personnel development through workshop training on credit analysis.
2. Monitoring and auditing credit quality.
3. Restructuring of loan interest rates to better reflect quality of debtors.
4. Developing tools for financial projection, as well as, guideline for credit granting to respective industry to facilitate and set up the standard for credit facilitation.
5. Verifying and improving tools and their accuracy for credit risk evaluation on continual basis to properly reflect the actual risks of debtors.
6. Placing importance of risk management on portfolio management in order to manage overall debts effectively. SME Bank has reviewed level of risk control in industrial sector by taking into account credit support to SMEs and enhancement of national economy. Therefore, SME Bank has determined expansion of credit portfolio for each industrial sector to be in accordance with GDP of SMEs to prevent excessive concentration of the Bank's credit expansion to any specific industry and in conformity with the national economic development. Also, the Bank has taken control measures for factoring credit by setting out credit limits for each account to prevent similar credit concentration.

As of 31st December 2014, SME Bank has given loans to different business sectors as follows: commercial sector (30%), production sector (28%), hotel and restaurant sector (15%), logistics sector (7%), agricultural, hunting and forestry sector (5%), construction sector (4%), property for rent and business service sector (4%), community, social service and other service sector (4%), educational sector (2%) and other sectors.

7. In respect of Non-Performing Loans (NPLs) management, SME Bank has improved its management system for NPLs for better clarity by dividing duties and responsibilities for respective group of account separately from the credit approval work groups and has also determined its requirement policy and criteria in accordance with the guidelines given by Bank of Thailand e.g. criteria for credit rating by applying both qualitative and default criteria and criteria for debt restructuring based on the actual solvency of debtors in order to prevent losses to the Bank. As of 31st December 2014, SME Bank's NPLs was amounted to 37.6% of the total outstanding loans. In this regard, the Bank has fixed the allowance for doubtful accounts as per policy given by Ministry of Finance and by referring to the criteria of the Bank of Thailand.

8. Determining credit policy by focusing its credit administration to those SMEs with credit limit not exceeding 15 million baht who are the significant clients based on the Bank's mission and considered as the backbone of the national economy.
9. Improve the procedures for credit administration for the amount not exceeding 15 million baht by setting up specific marketing unit and credit analysis unit to clearly and separately be responsible for each area with the view to facilitate and standardize credit administration with good internal control, definite division of duties which create the act of check and balance.

Market Risk

Market Risk refers to risks originated from fluctuation of interest rates, foreign currency exchange rates and values of financial instrument in money and capital markets which may have adverse effect on the Bank's income and fund.

1) Interest rate risk is the risk that income or fund may be adversely affected by alteration of interest rate of assets, liabilities and all other off balance sheet items which are rate sensitive items that may affect net interest income, marketing value of trading account and other incomes and expenses correlated with interest rate.

SME Bank gives priority to interest rate risk management by taking into account the inconsistent changes of interest rate (Basic Risk) that may adversely affect its net interest income (NII) as the interest rate can vary subject to economic cycle that can be fluctuated all the time. Interest rate also relates to interest rate management of loan and deposit of SME Bank. Therefore, SME Bank carefully takes precaution in its determination of interest rate, as well as, portfolio management of both loan and deposit. Various steps are taken including application of policies, measures and tools for risk management e.g. Re-pricing Gap Analysis that can control impact from interest rate change to be within acceptable level (Risk Appetite).

2) Foreign exchange rate risk is the risk that income or fund may be adversely affected by fluctuation of foreign exchange rate in connection with transaction or assets and liabilities in foreign currency.

SME Bank has no policy on speculation of exchange rate and only maintains foreign currencies for general transaction with its clients. This has made SME Bank to be able to manage and maintain exchange rate risk at minimum level within the permitted limit.

3) Price risk refers to the risk that the Bank's income or fund may be adversely affected by change in value of debt or equity instruments resulting in the decrease of investment portfolio for trading and available for sale.

SME Bank also has no policy on investment in debt instrument either held for trading or available for sale which is in line with its investment policy and results in low rate of price risk.

From the overall picture of market risk management, SME Bank is able to efficiently maintain market risk within the limit as approved which is in harmony with regulation guideline by the Bank of Thailand (BOT). Furthermore, SME Bank has no investment in any account intended for trading.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity Risk means the risks resulted from SME Bank's inability to obtain cash or cash equivalents for the amount sufficient for cash demand or any other obligations. This is due to inconsistency of maturity of inflow and outflow cash (Maturity Mismatching) or such risk of loss from securing fund at costs higher than an acceptable level or being forced to sell its assets at price lower than such recommended or planned price.

With respect to liquidity risk management, SME Bank has determined policies, measures and procedures for risk management to be in line with the context of SME Bank, market condition and risk management guideline given by the Bank of Thailand which will cover liquidity risk management policy, risk limit to maintain it at acceptable level, application of financial tools for the purpose of risk management such as Liquidity Gap, Liquidity Ratio and Maturity Gap, as well as, the forecast of future liquidity.

Operational Risk

Operational Risk means the risks causing damage due to the lack of good corporate governance and control which probably associate with internal operating procedures, personnel, work systems or external factors and have negative impacts on incomes and funds of SME Bank.

In 2014, SME Bank placed importance upon the improvement of credit administration by hiring consulting firm specialized in credit administration to carry out entire system audit which will be the basis for improvement aimed at better and efficient service for the client with least error.

SME Bank has adopted Control Self Assessment (CSA) to allow each unit to reconsider its operation under changed environment on whether the existing control system is still practical and adequate. This will help minimize operation error. In addition, SME Bank has also put in place notification system for loss data to collect operational loss data which will be used as a tool to minimize error and loss from the operation by the Bank's officers.

Compliance Risk

Compliance Risk refers to those risks resulted from failure to observe the law, resolution of the Council of Ministers, rules and regulation, relevant official notification that may affect the operation and damage reputation and image.

SME Bank realizes and gives priority to compliance risk management by drawing a policy on compliance risk management and continually monitoring observance of official rules and regulations, setting a center for providing recommendations, advice and evaluating works of relevant unit to ensure that SME Bank's operation shall not violate and be in line with official rules and regulations, as well as, rules and regulations internally applied by SME Bank.

Internal Control

SME Bank gives priority to its internal control system through continual development as this is seen as a key to support and maximize effectiveness and efficiency of SME Bank's operation along with good corporate governance, transparency and compliance with statutory requirements and related rules and regulations. Internal control has always been included as part of the Bank's normal operation where all departments either in the head office or regional office are assigned with the duty to adopt a tool, Control Self – Assessment (CSA), to their respective risk management and internal control pursuant to the regulation prescribed by the State Audit Commission regarding Determination of Internal Control Standard B.E. 2544 and the framework for risk management and internal control of COSO – ERM. There are 5 major components of internal control as follows:

1. Control Environment

SME Bank has prepared the Code of Ethics and Business Conduct for the Small and Medium Enterprise Development Bank of Thailand B.E. 2553 which underlines integrity, ethics and transparency and free of conflict interest. In 2014, SME Bank revised the element of the Corporate Governance and Corporate Social Responsibility Committee, in charge of regulating and promoting management under the principle of good corporate governance to ensure that morals and ethics and integrity are established among the Bank's executives and officers in their operation by referring to SME Bank's code of ethics and business conduct and raising the awareness thereof by publishing them on SME Bank's intranet as organization-wide policy.

2. Risk Assessment

Operating Result Year 2014

1. Economic Condition 2014

Thailand's economic growth in 2014 was limited to only 0.7% due to effects from political unrest lasting from late 2013 while global economy was still instable directly affecting the export sector. All of these were the factors pressing on Thai economy during the first part of the year to witness shrinkage 0.1%YoY. However, political situation has been partly resolved and the government sector has become a major accelerator through its stimulating measures for either short or long term. For instance, support has been given to farmers while work opportunity/employment has been distributed to provincial area. Budget has been urged for its disbursement to be injected to pending infrastructure projects. SMEs have also been benefited from such measures. As such, economic growth reached its highest rate again in the late period of the year.

The background features a series of overlapping, curved bands in various shades of blue, ranging from light to dark. A prominent feature is a grid of small, light-colored dots that appears to be receding into the distance, creating a sense of depth and perspective. The overall aesthetic is clean, modern, and professional.
